I believe there are two (one?) nagging questions.....

1. Is Microsoft big enough to be able to 'crush' any competition they choose to?
(and)
2. Will they?

Look at their past and 'guess' at their future plans.....

....and #1 - seems they are nearly big enough to buy what ever they want.....

Of course, a 'move' to Canada (or another off-shore location...) should be pretty cheap.....surprised they aren't already packing.....but then maybe Bill likes to 'win' on his own turf???
